

How Do I Know if I am Ready for a Coach?

From a personal and professional individual perspective, think about what you're hearing from the Lord and answer the questions below:

- Is it time to go further and need additional resources?
- Are you willing to explore your God-given potential and begin thinking ahead?
- Are you being called to restructure your life, if necessary, to achieve the goals and dreams that God has given you?
- Do you want to be a visionary, and maintain a high level of accomplishment?
- Are you ready to stick your neck out to operate at the leading edge?
- Are you willing to accept input from someone who has your best interest in mind, a person who is an advocate and who will encourage you and share insight and objective feedback with you?
- Are you ready for something new and challenging?
- Do you feel stagnated?
- Do you have a lot of good ideas, but you're not able to get traction with them?
- Is God telling you that it's time for a change, and you're not quite sure what that means?

If the answer to any of these questions is yes, it may be good timing to work with a coach.
